BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET AND GENERAL CEREMONY

Intercity Meet With Pass Christian Rotary Club Marks
Annual Ladies' Night and Installation of Officers
Of Bay St. Louis Club

Nearly sixty members and their respective guests attended annual meeting of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian business clubs, The Rotary, in inter-city meet at Hotel Weston on Thursday night of last week when ladies' night was observed and ceremony incident to installation of Bay St. Louis Rotary officers for the new year was held.

It was a triple event, inter-city, ladies' night and installation ceremony. Dr. James A. Evans, chairman of the Program Committee, which is a ranking honor, and who also is a past president, installed the re-elected president who, in turn, resumed the reigns of the meeting and formally introduced officers.

Bay St. Louis officers are Chas. G. Moreau, president; John J. McDonald, vice president; Arthur A. Scaife, secretary-treasurer. The chair announced at the banquet that night the appointment of the new program committee, viz: Dr. Jas. A. Evans, chairman; V. President John J. McDonald and Secretary-Treasurer Arthur A. Scaife.

New board of directors, recently elected by ballot is composed of Dr. James A. Evans, S. J. Ingram, Jos. O. Mauffray, C. C. McDonald, John J. McDonald, Chas. G. Moreau, Leo W. Seal and Arthur A. Scaife.

Pass Christian Officers.

Pass Christian officers for the new year and recently installed are James Terrell, president, Wm. V. Robinson, vice-president, and E. A. Lang, secretary-treasurer.

E. J. Gex Guest of Club.

County Attorney E. J. Gex, former Rotarian, who was introduced as a Rotarian, for it was said, once a Rotarian always a Rotarian, who was the honor guest of the club for the evening delivered the annual address for the occasion, choosing for his subject, the Psychology of Humanity, and which proved both a masterly and most engaging address. The thought was something new, logical and entertaining. The address showed thought and preparation and Mr. Gex was generally complimented.

Other speakers included Former Senator Carl Marshall, Former Representative Robt. L. Genin, Joseph O. Mauffray and C. C. McDonald. President Terrell of the Pass Christian Club delivered a few remarks that were most appropriate to the occasion, manifesting the good will and fellowship existing between the two sister cities located in close proximity with the Bay of St. Louis as the dividing line.

A program of unusual interest was composed of two solos by Mrs. Orle Pollard with Miss Elsa Mauffray, piano accompanist, a reading from "Huckleberry Finn," in costume, by Mrs. Henry W. Oosnach, who, like Mrs. Pollard, scored a signal success, and reading of an original sketch by Vice President Wm. V. Robinson of Pass Christian, who made a play on members both from Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis Club, this selection serving as the contribution to the event by the Pass Club.

Father A. J. Gmelch, of the Bay St. Louis Club, delivered the invocation to the banquet.

The Banquet

No decoration for the many banquets and affairs held at Hotel Weston by the Bay Rotary Club were more colorful than the American tricolors of Washington bi-centennial year used for this occasion.

In the absence of Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois, hostess at Hotel Weston, the dining room arrangement and decorations were in charge of Mrs. Douglas Bourgeois and Mrs. Hugh Bourgeois, assisted by the operating force, both in dining room and kitchen. The menu was one of formal kind and of such excellence as only a fine chef may prepare and serve.

At each place, as a favor, in addition to party caps, an American flag had been placed. Running along the center of the long "T" shaped table were connected sprays of asparagus fern. A printed program for each guest also accompanied the favors and decorations. Dahlias of deep red shade served as one center piece and another was one of tiny American flags and delicate fern.

With the new 1932-33 year, Bay St. Louis Rotary Club enters into its eighth year and since it is composed of strictly business and professional men it is outstanding in the community in more than one respect, representative and enjoying the confidence of the community.

BUSINESS MEN HEAR CO. AGENT

R. H. Bryson, Recently Appointed by Board Supervisors, Outlines Plans Of Work.

R. H. Bryson, recently appointed county agent by Hancock county Board of Supervisors was guest speaker before Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday afternoon at the regular weekly luncheon-meeting, when Mr. Bryson was the honor guest and introduced to the assembly of business and professional men present. A number of invited guests were also of the number.

Mr. Bryson emphasized the point that it was his intention to give the people and their interests such result in time as to justify the effort and expense of the Board of Supervisors in putting on the services of a county agent.

He said he had several meetings called at school houses and other places of gathering over Hancock county, where he wished to meet the people of different sections and to consult with them as to their wishes first before advising and formulating a program. He wished to first confer, ascertain their wishes and then define with them what was best for the different sections; what crop would be best and more profitable, and he wished to establish the best f. o. b. markets for their products.

He said he thought truck crops would do well. The strawberry crop could easily be made the major and cash crop of the county. He said this section was propitious to the early and successful growing of the berry. This section, he indicated, could easily be made a second Hammond, La. This was possible he said by working systematically, intelligently and in organization.

From statistics he quoted how many farms dotted Hancock county. And from the basis told of the shortage of smoked meat, syrup, corn, etc. This, he said, in time could and would be corrected.

Mr. Bryson's address was not only constructive but illuminating and Rotary members and guests felt they had gained much and would expect results from the address they had heard.

The Rotary Club endorses the work of the board of supervisors and the county agent.

Coast Visitors From Dallas, Texas, Victims of Automobile Accident

Mrs. Nellie D. Clement and Mrs. Davis, traveling by automobile from their home in Dallas, Texas, en route to Biloxi, where they had planned to spend a summer vacation, turned over last Wednesday afternoon out on the Old Spanish Trail west of Bay St. Louis and were severely shaken up and generally injured. They were picked up and taken to the King's Daughters Emergency Hospital, Bay St. Louis, where it was found Mrs. Clement was injured more seriously, losing one finger.

She was taken during the early part of the present week to Hotel Dieu in New Orleans for treatment by specialist.

The car was damaged, the top crushed, but was later brought in to the hospital premises.

Both ladies are artists and teachers.

MRS. STEWART GIVES RECEPTION IN HONOR MISS EDITH DUGGAN

Artists and to Show Life-size
Portrait, Just Finished, of Mrs. Charles Farwell.

Entertaining at a reception the artist who had so successfully painted the portrait of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Farwell, Mrs. John N. Stewart on Friday afternoon entertained quite a number of invited guests to meet Miss Edith Dugan, of New Orleans and New York, the artist.

The portrait of Mrs. Farwell, life size and done in oil and color, was hung to advantage in one of the parlors of The Answer, Union Street, with the proper lights to show it to advantage.

Mrs. Farwell, prior to her marriage some years ago Miss Edna Stewart, is of an attractive type and the picture portrays her in true sense of the artist's interpretation. Miss Dugan has painted quite a number of portraits of prominent men and women in the social and other walks of life and her success has been acclaimed.

Mrs. Stewart was assisted in receiving by Miss Gore, hostess at the Answer. Refreshment were served and a most delightful hour resulted. The occasion served to introduce the artist, for friends to view the beautiful painting and again to meet Mrs. Stewart who has always been one of the most delightful hostesses.

Miss Dugan left the same night over the L. & N. for New York City before returning to New Orleans.

King's Daughters' Cash Drive Realizes Appreciable Cash Sum

Mrs. E. J. Leonhard, local president King's Daughters and Sons, and directress of the cash drive made last Saturday in Bay St. Louis and Waveland territory expresses satisfaction at the result, considering the collections were made practically from house to house and the general run was in modest sums. Some gave pennies, others nickels, dimes, quarters, halves and in some instances a dollar. A few gave larger sums and a still fewer checks, however, all gratefully received and acknowledged with due appreciation and thanks.

The drive was made in one day. Captains and assistants appointed for different sections. Late in the afternoon reports were received at the Chamber of Commerce room and the sum counted then and amounts received later and with more expected. Mrs. Leonhard states that two hundred dollars will be the sum realized.

This will go to the hospital debt fund on the building purchased last year. It is noted, Mrs. Leonhard stated, that everyone who gave did so willingly and gladly. The economic situation taken into consideration this drive is splendid. In fact, it is stated, exceeded expectation. A fuller detailed account will probably be given later.

City Political Campaign Looming Up in the Horizon

Local politics are already assuming an interesting phase inasmuch as one of the candidates for mayor is making a house to house canvass and laying his claims for the office in person. There are quite a number of candidates, it is said for the different city offices, but who they are is not definitely known since no formal announcements have as yet been made public.

City Democratic Executive Committee will meet after the 1st of August when the date of election will be announced and poll books ordered revised.

The candidates are making way before the date is announced, which is not necessary to be known before making a campaign, are getting the edge of time on the other fellow who is seemingly timid to come out. There is no better time than the present.

SHERIFF WARNS PUBLIC

Relative to New Game and
Fish Law—Asks Citizens
To Co-operate In Enforcement.

Under heading of "For The Protection of Fish and Game," Sheriff T. E. Kellar addresses a notice to the general public in which he calls attention to the fact that the Legislature of 1932 passed a new game and fish law and calls attention to its provisions, asking the public to read the law as published elsewhere in this issue of The Echo, in order to be familiar with its provisions.

Hunter Kimball residing at Jackson has been appointed State game warden and asks for general co-operation, to which appeal the executive force of Hancock county, as Sheriff Kellar states, unanimously agrees to assist.

Sheriff Kellar says protection is needed earlier in the season, and not after the open season is announced. By the time of opening date, he states, there has been such flagrant violations, that much of the game is already hunted. In future it is planned to avoid this. Sheriff Kellar says it can be done and with the assistance of the people of the county he feels certain this end may be accomplished.

NOTICE OF BENEFIT

W. B. A. Benefit Card Party at home of Miss Dora Necaise, on Second street, Friday night, July 15th. Tally 25c.

John A. Green, depot agent and resident representative of the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Bay St. Louis, will retire from active service on August 1, after having served that company for 58 continuous years.

Mr. Green first entered the service of the railroad in 1874. December 14, 1880, he was appointed depot agent at Bay St. Louis and has held this position continuously ever since.

On August 1 he will retire with pay for the balance of his life. The time intervening between 1874 and 1880 Mr. Green spent working for the L. & N. at different points, principally in New Orleans and also at Mobile.

He is a native of Pass Christian and on Sunday last celebrated his 72nd birthday.

In 1929, when the L. & N. built the new depot in this city, Mr. Green was honored at a public reception, receiving a silver loving cup presented by the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club and railway representatives.

In January, 1925, Mr. Green received from the railroad a 50-year gold service button, studded with ten diamonds, one for every year.

Mr. Green will continue his residence in this city on the South Beach Boulevard, where he resides with his family. Mrs. Green, son Frank, and two daughters, Misses Margaret and Genevieve. Four other sons reside away engaged in different pursuits.

Serving the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company in Bay St. Louis as its resident depot agent since 1880, Mr. Green has rendered his employers valuable and distinctive service, a man who always gave more than a share of his service for value received; and will retire at the end of the present month rich in honor and distinction for this is the manner in which he always served his company and they in turn with appreciation of similar character.

This man's long and constant devotion to his trust is well known proverbially. Their interest was ever uppermost in his mind and his administration to the demanding and exacting responsibilities of railroad work as his was intensive and marked with utmost efficiency.

As local agent Mr. Green has served through two generations and without interruption. Aside from illness he has never been away; never left his post. His life has been one of unselfish attention to duty. Since 1880 he has seen many improvements made by his company. He has seen the transition from the time when there were no dining cars to now when palatial diners roll to and fro on wheels. He saw the time when Bay St. Louis was a stopping point for passenger trains and the company maintained a dining room at this point for its passengers, tarrying here for twenty minutes for meals. Older residents of a generation ago remember when Mr. Green resided on the upper floor of the former depot building and the flower garden he maintained surrounding the rear of the building was one of the show places of hereabouts. Here was a garden noted for the beauty and collection of variety of plants and for the abundance of flowers at all times. He saw that the company's premises were ever kept with that same attention and interest as if his own, and it is well known that the Bay St. Louis depot never lacked his proper supervision.

Mr. Green's place will be filled, the name of his successor not yet given. Who ever it may be will serve as well. But none will do better. Mr. Green gave his very life and thought to his trust.

REYNOLDS MILLIONS AND TRAGEDY

MONEY does not always insure happiness. In its trail follows tragedy only too often and the success and happiness of many wrecked on the rocks of disaster.

Young Reynolds, scion of one of the wealthiest families in America, and heir to twenty-one million dollars, reported by the daily press, met his death a few evenings since at his home following a party, after everyone was supposed to have retired. Smith Reynolds, twenty years of age, twice married, living in the lap of luxury, was found unconscious in his sleeping porch apartment, with a bullet hole through his head and died later. Who fired the shot has not been definitely determined pending the report of a coroner's jury and other investigation.

Arrests have been made and the finger of suspicion points to murder by someone supposedly in the house at the time. The wife and his best friend have been detained for examination.

Thus another tragedy has been added to the long list among the ultra-rich. Will the mystery be solved does not matter. The fact remains this young man is no more, sorrow has invaded the home and bosom of the family.

Wealth by no means is necessary to happiness. Greed for money and power, regardless how gotten, in the last analysis seemingly leads to an untimely end.

Amassed millions, like the path of glory the poet tells of, seem to lead but to the grave.

LUNATIC AT THE WHEEL

DAILY PRESS bring repeated reports of auto fatalities and as summer reaches its zenith the number augments.

Formerly the heated season brought news of drownings. This form of fatality news was numerous. But the automobile now far exceeds records of accidental and violent deaths.

Hardly a day passes unless some life has been sacrificed to an untimely death for the reason the driver was careless. Fast driving, taking a chance in passing the "other fellow" and seemingly unmindful of the right thing to do in "tight places" are too often the blame.

But of all these hazards the fast driver exceeds. No other cause equals this one. And regardless of all that is said and printed on this subject caution and advice is in vain.

Analyze any and the majority of causes and fast driving will be found the main cause of accidents. How to curb this death-dealing mania is seemingly a hopeless problem unless officers of the law make arrests in every case and let conviction follow.

A life is too precious to be snuffed out by some lunatic at the wheel.

NEED OF U. S. RADIO CHAIN.

CITIZENS of Bay St. Louis who listened to the proceedings of the national conventions, recently concluded in Chicago, ought to appreciate the value of the radio in permitting millions of Americans to keep up with national events.

The manner in which the proceedings of the Conventions were brought to the public obviously shows that the same can be accomplished in regard to the sessions of Congress. The suggestion has been made before but it is time to urge again that the Federal Government establish a chain of radio stations that will cover the United States and carry to the people of this nation matters of interest concerning their government. The cost of such a project would not be excessive and the administration of such a system could be fairly handled.

Advertising, to be profitable, should not consist of fake claims and business bunk.

Hint to swimmers: Don't try to show the crowd how far you can swim—you might not.

The man who grumbles about a dollar paid in direct taxes will pay $25 in indirect taxes without knowing that he is doing it.

In raising the postal rates the government put the burden on the people, but, so far as we have heard, there has been no reduction in the subsidies paid steamship lines for carrying mail to foreign countries.

There have been twenty-four wars since the World Conflict. Men tire of their vocations; pleasures, places of abode, and even of life itself, but the popularity of a good old fashioned row now and then has remained unchanged since the curtain rose upon recorded history.

Considering that the ship of state is said to be sinking, there is an amazing number of both Democrats and Republicans who look forward to next November as affording an opportunity for them to man the pumps. Ordinarily no one cares for the task of saving the ship that is headed for the bottom. There may be less water in the hold than pessimists have led us to think.

The Spanish have started to reclaim sixty thousand acres of land in Africa. The project suggests the thought that the so-called Dark Continent is one place in the world where there is still thousands of square miles of unpopulated territory. Under the touch of science and engineering, the scepter may yet pass to Africa. The day may come when statesmen will wait for the deciding word from Cairo, rather than from Paris, Berlin, London or Washington.

KNOW MISSISSIPPI BETTER TRAIN.

KNOW Mississippi Better Train has become a nationally-known institution, with Lt. Gov. Dennis Murphree, as general chairman. For the past eight years the Know Mississippi Better Train has visited different sections of this country and Canada, with splendid advertising results to say nothing of the amount of good will resultant. And as the name of the train indicates, know Mississippi better.

Mississippi, great agricultural State, with its opportunities and culture of its people, inviting the world to seek homes in its midst, is too little known. It was with the view of becoming better known that this annual pilgrimage over the country was inaugurated. The manner in which it has been received by various people in different sections is an endorsement of the enterprise and makes for it a permanent feature. Of course, too much praise cannot be given Lt. Gov. Murphree. His interest in the cause of his state and its people has been unceasing and his work unflagging.

The trip for this year will leave Jackson, Miss., August 9, over into Texas, through New Braunfels, San Antonio and down into Old Mexico, with Mexico City as the goal. From there there will be many side trips. The cost, all expense included, $135.00.

The itinerary and entertainment forms for a trip that no individual could otherwise anticipate. It is an annual educational one and never to be forgotten. Mr. W. A. McDonald, of Bay St. Louis, is thoroughly posted in the matter and any of our local readers planning to go would do well to see him. He will give literature and information. We cannot but commend this trip to any young or adult person. It seems the chance of a life time.

A very good indication of the extent to which the country is watching its pennies just now is found in the instance of a public library which called off fines for a week and received nine thousand overdue books.

OPPORTUNITIES OF TRAVEL.

IN this day and time advantage of travel has never been so propitious to the average individual.

At one time it was only the affluent who could in great measure aspire to travel, but today with transportation medium plentiful and cost at lowest there is little or no reason why one should be deprived of the pleasure and education to be had from travel.

At one time even the mere thought of a trip to Europe was only indulged in by people of means and leisure. This summer one may travel the four corners of the world, so to speak, at comparative small cost. The pleasure of a trip across the ocean and a visitation to the cities of continental Europe was denied many, but today tours are so arranged as to include all cost and arrangement of detail into one lump sum that even the most modest bank account may afford.

This will prove a boon to young people, to teachers and other professional people; to laymen who have long dreamed of such a trip and if one may spare the time there seems little or no reason why such a trip should not be taken.

And to those who have never left home railroad travel over the United States and Canada, as well as Mexico, is now down to the lowest cost ever known. Travel and its cost have been so systematized and the cost minimized as to make it possible for one to no longer remain dreaming but to get busy and make the dream become a reality. People from the North and East may now come to the Gulf Coast, points in Florida, returning home by way of New Orleans or circle tour through California at reduced rates. And people from this section may take the reverse itinerary. There is no better time than the present some wit has said and the wisdom may be extended to this injunction: Travel now!

We are not for any particular relief plan but when the government can pass out millions for the industries of the nation, to prevent their collapse, we see no reason why it should not pass out some money to help the unemployed through the same depression.

OVER HALF CENTURY'S SERVICE.

WITH the retirement of John A. Green from services with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, comes to a close a period of fifty-eight years of uninterrupted connection with a major railroad company of the country. Such a record is unusual and seldom with parallel.

But the mere fact of so long service as a matter of news is nothing compared to the significance of such record. It voices character, loyalty and devotion. For no man or woman could hold a position over so long a period without reason therefor.

John A. Green stands out as a shining example to the youth of the day. Here we have a man who began with a company in humble position and rose to resident representative, enjoying as he does the confidence of his employers. Such confidences he enjoys and merits do not come over night. Neither is it born of favor or influence but comes as a result and justification in return for exemplary service.

Devotion to duty has its reward. Here is a manifestation in the truest sense. Mr. Green retires after a period of over a half century. He well leaves a heritage for those to come. While yet active and well, he will retire and enjoy such relaxation as he will best enjoy; such recreation as will prove appealing.

The Echo congratulates its friend on his fine record. We extend best wishes for the future. And here we wish to voice an appreciation of the attention and individual service this newspaper and business has enjoyed during its forty years of existence in business dealings with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad through its resident representative.

How can the world avoid the troubles that arise from things forgotten? Perhaps by entrusting to mothers more of the matters that ought to be remembered. Mothers seem to have pretty good memories. For more than a quarter century, a California woman has sent annually to Alaska, a wreath to be laid on the grave of her son in the frozen north.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 12.—On March 6th, 1933, when the Chief Executive for the next four years, will have begun his duties, each and every one of us will still have uncompleted campaigns of our own. News of activities of political parties will interest the readers of the Echo then as it does now. But news of the campaigns in our home communities will hold us closer, just as it did last week.

There for instance, was that big campaign for enjoyment which was launched by Charley Breath when he opened the Nite Club to which he recently gave the name of "Uncle Charley's." His platform was one of recreation; and wholesome pleasure for the socially elect is the keynote of the campaign. Will any political party more fully achieve its purpose?

What was the platform of the young folks who danced so merrily at Clermont Harbor's new Municipal Pier and Pavilion last Saturday night? I suppose many of them would be quite surprised and had you asked them that question. Enough for them that the floor upon which they danced was highly polished and that the orchestra played without a note being out of key. Well, just that temporary escape from responsibility enjoyed at the dance required a bit of a campaign to accomplish, and all the terpsichoreans will agree that they put over their platform in a big way for a few hours. That they are still voting appreciation to the Municipality of Clermont Harbor is a certainty.

Community betterment is the outstanding plank in the platform of the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian, which last Thursday held an intercity meeting to install Chas. G. Moreau and Jim Terrell as Presidents, John J. McDonald and Wm. V. Robinson, vice presidents, and Arthur Scaife and E. A. Lang, secretary-treasurers for the coming year. When the members of that progressive group gather to discuss different ways to promote the welfare of their communities, they care little whether each other favor the re-election of a president or his replacement by one promising a new deal. Party lines are forgotten in the community's interest. That's why, probably that our smaller cities are standing up so well when contracted with the sorry spectacles now presented by Chicago, New York and other centers where partisan politics have reigned supreme for years.

Not because they are Republicans, Democrats or members of some other party do the merchants of Bay St. Louis advertise in The Echo. They do so because they have in stock merchandise that will please you and that they sell at prices comparing very favorably with those asked elsewhere. Now and then you see a merchant who doesn't advertise. He hasn't announced his platform yet. He's in a backroom conference, you see and doesn't wish to be disturbed by customers.

With its forests disappearing, Hancock county realizes that its greatest remaining natural resource is the soil upon which the timber once grew. Today, as Editor Moreau points out in his editorial on the subject, we are witnessing a reversal of the migration to cities which was so marked during the past years. Back to the soil are moving thousands who have learned year in and year out it offers the greatest certainty of a living. Hancock County's Board of Supervisors are anticipating the migration which is bound to come to the Coast country which has so many climatic advantages over other sections where land is available. Mr. R. H. Bryson, the newly appointed county agent will direct activities of those who come to farm and who may not be intimately acquainted with local conditions. His services to those who have considered the country as primarily dependent upon the lumber industry will be quite as invaluable. The employment of a county agent at this particular time is a far sighted move for economy.

With veterans of the World War occupying much of the nation's attention, some of us are prone to forget that there are living among us able and active men who participated in another of the nation's conflicts. The war with Spain, while not as great in its prosecution or its consequences, as the World War, still had an important bearing on America's history. It may be held that it prepared this country for the leading part it was to play in world affairs a few years hence. In Bay St.

MORE PROOF.

NEWSPAPERS may be forgiven for emphasizing again the value of consistent advertising when the commendation for this form of salesmanship comes from such a substantial source as the Procter and Gamble Company.

This company, famous the world over and best known for its Ivory soap, announced a reduction in the price of this commodity through large advertisements placed in newspapers.

The purpose of the price cut was to enable housewives to obtain quality products that will compete in cost and use with the number of cheap imitations which have been offered to the public recently.

In commenting on their advertising campaign, executives of the Procter and Gamble Company declared they chose newspapers because they provide the most effective and quickest means of getting this information to the American people.

Self-praise is not even half scandal in an instance like this. Procter and Gamble could have selected any or all mediums of advertising to tell the new Ivory soap story to the public. In picking the papers the company paid a deserved tribute to American newspapers and add more proof to the often-quoted statement that "it pays to advertise" in the papers.

Back To The Land.

"Every so often the back-to-the-land movement springs up in this country. It is usually sponsored by well meaning people with very little understanding of human nature or farming," says Hoard's Dairyman.

"Few people are capable of leaving the farm for a few years and then go back and make a success of it. Invariably a person who gets a taste of city life is spoiled for the farm."

"We have faith in the stay-on-the-farm movement but not in back to the land. Unfortunately, many a person has left the farm only to find himself a misfit in the city and longs to return to the land. Such people have been misled by the harangue of the vaporizers that the farmer's lot is the hardest and least attractive occupation of any in the world. These spreaders of gloom and despair forget to point out the advantages of rural life when the farmer has the right vision of his job and directs himself intelligently to his task. They simply dwell upon the disadvantages of farming."

"Every occupation has its drawbacks but those who have been so busy making the farmer discontented have forgotten to tell about the real struggles of the city. It is surprising that anyone is left on the land after so much bombardment has been levied against agriculture."

"Those who have their farms paid for are just about the best situated people in the whole country, and what's more, they know it."

DEBTS OWED U. S.

Washington, July 9.—The amount of war debts owed the United States by the various foreign countries was listed by the treasury as follows:

Armenia $19,019,107; Austria $23-752,217; Belgium $400,680,000; Czechoslovakia, $16,071,023; Estonia $16,466,012; Finland $8,604,000; France $3,863,650,000; Great Britain $4,398,000,000; Greece $31-616,000; Hungary, $1,908,560; Italy $2,084,900,000; Latvia $6,888,664; Lithuania $6,197,682; Nicaragua $352,627; Poland $206,057,000; Rumania $63,860,560; Russia $317-953,006; Yugoslavia $61,625,000; total $11,598,601,461.

This list does not include amounts owed by Germany on account of the army of occupation.

Louis, so the account in The Echo reminds us, there are several veterans of this important war. Last week they organized a local camp of their influential national organization, and gave it the name of a comrade who sacrificed his life in the Philippines. The organization headed by Commander Burgdahl will be found cooperating in patriotic work with the one which Commander Dickson so ably heads.

The announcement by Mrs. Leo E. Kenney that she will conduct classes in voice culture for adults and children, as well as give private lessons, further magnifies the advantages offered residents of Bay St. Louis. Such training is not available in many of our smaller cities, and those desiring it have had to go to larger places where there was an added expense. Nor would Mrs. Kenney's efforts be rewarded with success in any town except one in which great emphasis is placed on culture in all its forms.

CHAIN STORES MUST PAY TAXES TO STATE

Law, Now Obsolete, Ruled Constitutional by Federal Judge.

Operators of chain stores in Mississippi during 1930, who have withheld privilege taxes from the state under an injunction granted by the United States Supreme Court must pay these back taxes into the state treasury, it was ruled by Federal Judge Edwin R. Holmes.

Proceedings were instituted in the United States District Court in May, 1930, to test the constitutionality of the Mississippi statute requiring retail chain store owners operating more than five stores in the state to pay a privilege tax of one half of one per cent on the gross sales of the stores. Operators of less than five stores were levied a tax of one-fourth of one per cent.

The Penney Stores, a retail chain operating in the state, carried the fight to the Supreme Court, where an injunction was granted restraining collection of the tax and the case was remanded to the lower court for a review of the facts.

Representatives of the Penney Stores claimed that it was arbitrary to draw the line between five and six stores and the one-fourth of one per cent levy should hold on the first five.

The court, in its conclusion that the bill should be dismissed, held that "a line or point exists at or near which the metamorphosis takes place."

"There is no mathematical method of fixing it precisely," the Holmes opinion continues, "and the function being a legislative one, its decision should be accepted unless palpably unfair and oppressive."

"When the transformation is accomplished, the reaction is the same upon the first five stores as upon the succeeding ones. Therefore, there is no vice in fixing the same measure of taxation for each of the stores in the entire chain."

The one-half and one-fourth per cent levy was made effective on May 1, at which time the two per cent sales tax went into effect. However, retail merchants who have not paid must remit at the rate of the old levy from January, 1930, until the day in which the two per cent levy became effective, according to Leigh Watkins, Jr., chief of sales tax division.

To Investigate Abuse Of Dealers Tags

State Auditor Joe S. Price, reveals plans to conduct a thorough check of every automobile dealer's licenses in the state in an effort to curb illegal use of such tags.

Price said his department had information that dealers throughout the state were abusing the use of their duplicate tags and that "he intended to put a stop to it."

Under section 11 of the new bus and truck laws, automobile dealers are permitted to purchase five duplicate tags at $1 each, which "shall be used only on his demonstration vehicle so long as he is the owner, but as soon as the sale or transfer shall have been made of the vehicle, they shall be removed, and the purchaser shall comply, as owner, with the requirements of the law."

Price said it was the practice in many towns for dealers to use their duplicate tags on their own private cars and in some instances they have been loaned to friends and used throughout the year, he asserted.

"It will be an easy matter to check up on the dealers," he said, "since we will simply make them produce his five duplicate tags and show how they are being used."

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

Producers are showing surprising willingness to exchange stars, writers, directors and camera men in an effort to save money. The old "knife-to-the-hilt" competition is out for the present. . . . The "gang" stories, the "air" epics and the newspaper delineations have been replaced by a group of stories designed to take the theater-goer into the studio lots and onto the picture sets. Several stories of this type, are underway. . . .

Joan Crawford, M-G-M star, will make "Rain" for United Artists. Claudette Colbert is to be the villainous empress in a coming de Mille picture. Elissa Landi will play the girl. . . . Although M-G-M's list of seventeen starts for the coming year does not include Greta Garbo, the general opinion is that she will make three pictures next year. . . . Studio officials rate Jean Harlow as the best "sex" bet, even surpassing Clara Bow appeal. . . . Anne Dvorak, Warner Brothers' new star, is in much demand. . . . Bebe Daniels' new picture, "Radio Girl," will include several songs to give her a chance to sing. The team of Harry Warren and Al Dubin will write the songs. . . . Following the success of "The Red-Headed Woman," Anita Loos will write another story for Jean Harlow. . . . Vivian Gaye, pretty actress who gave up her English career to become the manager for Sari Maritza, is about to crash into the films herself, because a director saw her with her charge, became impressed and had a screen test made. . . . Charlie Ray, who left the summer colony five years ago a penniless man, is staging something of a come-back on the legitimate stage and hopes to get back into the movies. . . . Clara Bow is to make "Call Her Savage" for Fox. . . . Katherine Hepburn, stage star, will begin "Bill of Divorcement" for Radio. Billie Burke is the mother and an effort is being made to get John Barrymore for the father. . . . Mack Sennett has begun work on a ten-reel feature comedy, "Hypnotized." Charles Murray, Charles Mack, of Moran and Mack, and W. C. Fields are to be in it. . . .

LOVE SONG.

Little word, like a bird,
Take this secret you have heard,
Wait it, wing it,
Speed it, sing it,
Till my sweetheart's soul is stirred.

Dainty miss, with a kiss,
Breathe an answer unto this,
Wreath it, rhyme it,
Breathe it, crime it,
Brim, oh, brim my heart with bliss.

Little bell, swing and swell,
To the tree-top swing and toll
All the people
Round your steeple,
How she loves me, oh, so well.

Little moon, sob and croon,
Like a widowed bride of June,
Whisper, weeping,
Where she's sleeping,
"Sweetheart, I shall follow soon."

State Republicans Open Campaign and Have Full Ticket in Field

For the first time in nearly half a century the Republican party of Mississippi will place a full congressional ticket in the field for the fall election.

The seven Republicans, including one woman, announced their candidacy over the week-end and all signified their intention of qualifying for district elections.

The following candidates have announced. First District, John R. Duberry, Baldwin; second district, Judge L. E. Oldham, Oxford; third district, Rice Hungerford, Jr., Tunica; Fourth district, D. F. Elliott, Okolono; fifth district, Mrs. Anna W. Matthews, Meridian; sixth district, John R. Tally, Hattiesburg; and seventh district, George W. Forbes, Jackson.

Republican party leaders said an active campaign would be conducted both by the executive commission and the candidates and that they "intended to carry their cause to every section of the state."

All Republican candidates will base their campaigns on allegiance to the policies adopted by the national organization, but will wholeheartedly support the prohibition plank adopted by the state convention, it was announced.

The state platform flatly opposes repeal of the eighteenth amendment, or modification of the Volstead act. Chairman E. M. Hawkins of the state executive committee said the party prepared to place a ticket in the field from the state at large in the event the congressional redistricting act is held invalid. He said such a ticket would vary but slightly from the one offered from districts.

dence and regard which make for it so much success.

Bay St. Louis is one of the seven like clubs along the Mississippi gulf Coast, it is one of thousands over the world since it is international in scope and character.

Bay St. Louis Rotary Club is the oldest organization of civic and social importance in the city and county. It is calendared over the world. It appears in a world-wide list. Rotary speaks the same language in Bay St. Louis as it does in Europe, Asia, Africa, China, Japan as it does in Canada or South America. To be a Rotarian identifies people from all classes of the best and busiest. Deprivation has not affected Rotary. It is the business man's and the professional man's guide and creed for he who lives Rotary lives well and right and he who lives thus lives rightly and cannot but succeed. Certainly, one does not have to be a Rotarian to be successful. But its creed is that of every successful and right-thinking business man.

Bay St. Louis is proud of its Rotary Club. It is a builder of better and more character, its principles are ennobling and count for better fellowship. One of its chief precepts is fellowship. Long may it live and its membership increase.

Singers From Gulfside

An unexpected feature and pleasure of the evening was the introduction of the Jubilee Singers, male voice quartette from Gulfside, by Prof. S. J. Ingram, member Bay Rotary Club, which was had through the courtesy of Bishop R. E. Jones, directing force of the colored recreational and religious center at Jackson House, Waveland. A number of selections were given. While the number had been pre-arranged it came as a surprise. The numbers were well received.

MANY VETS ACCEPT FREE TICKET HOME

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Several hundred World War veterans today took advantage of the opportunity to "ride the cushions" homeward over the long miles they hitchhiked and "bummed" their way to Washington weeks ago to press their demands on Congress for payment of the bonus.

By the time the ink was dry on President Hoover's signature yesterday to the bill for lending the "bonus marchers" $100,000 for their transportation home and food en route, disappointed recruits to the bonus-seeking ranks fell in line at the veterans administration offices and sought to muster out.

More than 600 of the more than 15,000 veterans in Washington, had applied when the offices closed at midnight; approximately a third of them were passed upon favorably and many immediately set out for home. Others were in line when the office opened this morning.

Despite the lure of comfortable rides home and the increasing food shortage in the camps, leaders of the "army" hoped to confine the departures to a comparatively few hundred. Walter H. Waters, commander, admitted his belief that "some veterans" would take advantage of the opportunity but continued to urge the men to remain until Congress meets their demands.

An Onerous Burden

If you want to know what government is costing you, consider these figures. In 1917 every man in the United States worked 25 days per year to pay his taxes. In 1924 every man worked 46 days each year to pay his tax bill. Today every man works 61 days per year to square his account with governments of various kinds. The figures are authentic—at least, they were used the other day by President Hoover to support his economy plea. Working two months in 12 merely to support men holding office is an onerous burden.

With an electricity bill of about $1,200 a day, a water bill of nearly $1,000 a day and a bill for cross-ties amounting to nearly $7,500 a day there is still a considerable field for economy in these features of Illinois Central System operation, according to reports by the waste avoidance committee of the railroad in the Illinois Central Magazine for July. A reduction of approximately $25,000 in electricity and water bills between the first quarter of 1931 and the first quarter of 1932 is reported.

Safe On Mother Earth

A young man fell into a state of coma, but recovered before his friends had buried him. One of them asked what it felt like to be dead.

"Dead," he exclaimed. "I wasn't dead, and I knew I wasn't dead, because my feet were cold and I was hungry."

"But how did that make you sure?"

FORMER RESIDENT MOVING ON TO HATTIESBURG.

A Gulfport print says that Mrs. B. A. Horlock, daughter, Miss Ethel, and sons Walter and Fred, left Wednesday for Hattiesburg, where they will reside in future, joining the son and brother, William Horlock, who has been located there for some time. The Horlock family, former residents of Waveland, where the late Mr. Horlock was in business and quite a developer, have been residents of Gulfport the past nine years and move in quest of better outlook.

DEATH OF JOHN J. YARBOROUGH.

The death of John J. Yarborough, native of Lakeshore, aged 43 years, which occurred at his home Thursday, July 7, at 2:55 A. M., removes from our midst a citizen whose passing away is noted with wide regret. He had been a resident of Waveland the past nine years.

Born of a well-known family of this west section of Hancock county, Mr. Yarborough was identified with the things that count most in life. A man of exemplary character, a devoted husband and loving father he was possessed of combined rare essentials that go to make such ideals that he so well represented and lived during his life.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth Roberts Yarborough, five sons, Lawrence, Walter, Norbert, Herman and Claud, and four daughters—Mrs. Peter Noto of Bay St. Louis; Misses Leona, Esther and Clara Yarborough.

Mr. Yarborough is also survived by his father, John Y. Yarborough and mother, Mrs. Mary Yarborough; four brothers—Elijah, William, Benjamin and Jasper—and one sister, Mrs. Jennie Neacise.

The funeral of this lamented citizen was largely attended, a testimonial of esteem and sympathy, and many floral offerings bespoke of the sorrow felt at the passing of this excellent man.

Rev. Father M. J. Costello, pastor, St. Claire's Church, officiated at the ceremony, with interment in the hallowed precincts of Waveland cemetery.

The immediate family and relatives have the sympathy of many in the loss and irreparable.

A traveling bird's nest, with a mother sparrow on part-time duty, is reported in the Illinois Central Magazine for July. R. C. Jarnagin, Illinois Central System agent at Starkville, Miss., tells how a passenger coach on a Mobile & Ohio train operating out of Starkville twice a day served as the site on which the bird built her nest, laid her eggs, and hatched and reared three young sparrows. The young birds had a train ride for forty-four miles every day, with their mother awaiting their return near the Starkville station.

FOR THE PROTECTION OF FISH AND GAME

TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC:

I take this method of informing you that the legislature of the State of Mississippi at its 1932 session passed a new game and fish law, you will find this in the 1932 laws house bill No. 116 and we would be delighted if every man or woman who fishes and hunts in the State of Mississippi would read this law that they might be familiar with its contents.

Section 17 of this act sets out the duties of the executive officers and which reads as follows: Any violation or attempt to violate any of the provisions of this Act, or any law or regulation for the protection of wild animals, birds, or fish shall constitute and is hereby declared a misdemeanor. All Sheriffs, Deputy Sheriffs, Constables and Peace Officers of this State are hereby made Ex-Officio Special Game and Fish Wardens and it shall be their duty to aid in the enforcement of such laws or regulations.

Mr. Hunter Kimball residing in Jackson, has been appointed State Game Warden and it is his earnest desire that all executive officers in each county of the state co-operate with the conservation commission in the enforcement of this law.

The executive force of Hancock County unanimously agrees to co-operate with Mr. Kimball and use every means possible to protect the game and the fish until the season opens. We are posting notices along the lines of this county and instructing our deputies to see that this law is not violated. I am an old hunter and I have found that one of the main evils or one of the main reasons why this law is not bringing results is due to the fact that the local game wardens and the executive officers of the county do not attempt to enforce this law until after the season is open. We need this protection earlier in the season and our officers here are now on the job and will prosecute to the full extent of the law any one hunting in this county until the season is open and the proper license secured. They will also prosecute to the full extent of the law any non resident fishing in the lakes or streams of this county who has not already procured the necessary license at the initiative cost of $5.00.

We sincerely hope that every citizen of Hancock County will co-operate with this office giving such information as will lead to the apprehension of any one violating this law. Such information will be treated strictly confidential and we believe it is the intention and certainly the duty of every citizen to give us this information.

T. E. KELLAR, Sheriff.

MEDITATION.

July, the heated month of all the year
And yet, beside a running brook with water cool and clear,
Beneath an elm I sit and think
How sweet it is—and close to God 'tis here.

The frogs leap up and on the bank sit and blink at me
The katy-dids in yonder trees noisily disagree
The wildness and the solitude of this sequestered spot
Gives chance for thought, and deepens God's mystery.

O'erhead the rustling of the leaves carries a message clear;
The crunching of dead leaves and twigs by animals void of fear

The sacredness and solemnity of this virginal place,
That this is Holy Ground and that God is here.

How good it is to get away, far from noise and din
And find a place of Nature's own, untouched by human sin
A spot of quiet, contentment and peace, not hampered by wall nor bar,
A place where happiness and joys abound, and God within.

—MRS. JOSEPH R. SCHARFF.

TO THE RETREATANTS

(At St. Stanislaus College June 24-27 1932)
Go forth with God's word in your breast,
Refreshed from worldly care;
Strong for life's fight after a rest,
Filled with visions most fair.

Go forth loving God all the more,
Crushing sin beneath your feet;
Peace to your soul He will restore,
Making your burden sweet.

Go forth instructed by a Guide,
Whose wisdom will keep long;
His word will follow at your side,
In Heaven's choicest song.

Rejoice and hasten on life's way,
With buckler and with shield;
With duty done, God's crown some day,
Within His holy field.

Build Church For Colored Congregation

A lot on 19th street between 35th and 36th avenues, Gulfport, was purchased Monday by the Catholic church of the Natchez diocese as a site for the erection of a Catholic church for colored people. The purchase was made through Rev. Mulroney of Biloxi. The land was owned by M. R. Grant of Mississippi City, the lot is 100 by 42 feet. It is planned to begin construction of the church edifice within the next 30 days, it was stated. This will be the first Catholic church for colored people within the limits of Gulfport.

Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Biloxi Colored Catholic congregations have churches of their own, administered to by separate pastors, and Gulfport is falling in line.

Southern California gained permanent possession of the Four-A trophy by winning the intercollegiate meet for the third consecutive time when the Trojans rolled up sixty-two and three-fourths points at Berkeley, California, recently. Stanford was second with thirty-four and one-half. It was the first meet to be held in the Far West. Easterners carried off seven of the individual titles the West six and ties occurred in two events.

One of the biggest upsets was the defeat of "Blazin" Ben Eastman, Stanford star, in the 440-yard dash by Carr, of Pennsylvania, who set a new record. Eastman, however, came back to run the 880-yard dash in 1:50.9 seconds, which is seven-tenths of a second faster than the world's record held by Dr. Peltzer, of Germany.

Southern California's victory is its fifth and the Far West has had a monopoly on the intercollegiate meet since 1919, with one exception, in 1924 when Yale managed to win. The Trojans made a great record on the gridiron and in track competition and California scored a rowing triumph at Poughkeepsie. All together it looks as though the Far West has a shade, at least, on the East.

Ellsworth Vines, Jr., displayed fine tennis at Wimbledon to win the championship by crushing Bunny Austin, England's leading player, 6-4, 6-0. Vines' victory climaxed a sensational campaign which began last summer and carried him to the American title. He played within himself most of the time and, apparently, had plenty left. He went through the array of stars from the nations with a loss of only two sets.

With Mrs. Moody's victory in the women's singles and Vines' triumph in the men's singles, the United States took both of the individual events but the doubles told another story. Jacques Brugnon and Jean Borota, of France, took the men's title. Doris Metaxa, of Belgium and Josanne Segart, of France, won the women's titles and the mixed event was taken by Elizabeth Ryan, of this country and Enrique Maier of Spain.

Henry Cochet, great French player, says that the trouble with American tennis is an abundance of fine playing material which prevents adequate Davis Cup experience for a few outstanding performers. Pointing out that Great Britain has relied upon Austin and Perry and that France in recent years has used only four—himself, Borota, La Costa and Brugnon—he says that while the United States has half a dozen stars capable of playing for the cup, they do not get the experience and are sometimes overtrained. Reverting back to his own experience, he points out that in 1925 his team was beaten 5-0 and in 1926, 4-1, but in 1927 the same players swept to victory. According to Cochet's theory, if France had possessed more good players, a new team would have probably come into the play without sufficient experience to win in 1927.

Jim Bausch, former Kansas University star, will give European countries more competition than they want in the decathlon event at Los Angeles this summer. In winning this event in Chicago recently, Bausch, six feet tall and weighing 210 pounds, sprinted 100 meters in little more than ten seconds; high hurdled 110 meters in 16.1 seconds; 400 meters in 52.2 seconds; high-jumped 5 feet and 7 1/16th inches; broad-jumped 21 feet, 8 3/4 inches; cleared 12 feet, four and three-eighths inches in the pole vault; heaved the shot 48 feet, 7 and three-fourths inches; hurled the discus 52 feet, 11 and three-eighths inches; and tossed the javelin 195 feet. As George Barton puts it, these are "some marks for the Finns, the Argentines, the Portuguese and the Greeks to shoot at."

Motion pictures of the Sharkey Schmeling fight convinces most spectators that the German piled up sufficient lead during the last five rounds to earn the decision. The fight seemed fairly close for ten rounds but beginning with the 11th Schmeling repeatedly forced Sharkey to break ground and although the Boston Gob rallied in the 12th to get an even break, the last three rounds found him apparently tiring and trying to hold Schmeling off with left jabs which had little power. The films also picture the German as the aggressor throughout with Sharkey waging a strict counter-fight.

Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden match-maker, says he hopes to feature a twin bill of return engagements between Mickey Walker and Johnny Risko and Ernie Schaaf and Stanley Foreda. Risko and Foreda whipped both of their opponents recently and the losers confidently assert their ability to reverse the verdicts. Such a card should draw a big crowd.

Walter Hagen won the Western open at Cleveland for the fifth time, with a score of 287, beating out Olin Dutra by one stroke. Max Carey says that the National League team that gets the pitching will win the pennant and that in a long stretch, the Cubs appear to have the most formidable hurling staff. Al Simmons says that Jimmy Fox

CONNER CONFIDENT
OF SALE OF BONDSGovernor Returns From Trip
To New York—State
Paper Approved.

"Mississippi's financial house rapidly is being put in order," said Gov. Sennett Conner upon his return to the capitol after conferences with New York bankers and bond buyers.

The chief executive, returning after a two weeks trip which carried him to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago and then on to New York where he joined members of his official family in conferences with financial leaders, appeared highly optimistic over the prospect of marketing state bonds.

"We have obtained the approval of authorized Mississippi bonds by eastern financiers from whom many investors seek advice," said the governor, "and we feel confident that our bonds will be purchased as soon as the market is in a position to absorb $12,500,000 worth of state bonds."

The bonds were authorized by the last legislature, $8,000,000 in one issue of deficit bonds to liquidate outstanding state warrants and other indebtedness, and a $4,500,000 issue of refunding bonds.

The state bond commission, headed by the governor and including Attorney General Greek L. Rice, and chairman of the State Tax Commission Alf H. Stone, have made no real effort to dispose of the bonds, since they were authorized, preferring to wait until a more favorable condition prevailed in the bond market and it has become evident that Mississippi's budget had been balanced.

has no apparent weakness at the plate and predicts he will break Babe Ruth's home-run record this season. Tommy Loughran, who scored a victory over Steve Hamas, has been suspended by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, for defying its authority in refusing to fight Hamas until Tommy Reilly was withdrawn as referee. . . . In a bout at Boston, de Glane and Sonnenberg were counted out by the referee, after they had grappled for more than an hour and a half. The referee called it an "unfinished contest." . . . After winning eleven straight games, Vernon Gomez, New York Yankee star pitcher, was batted out of the box without credit for a loss and then beaten by Washington in his next appearance. . . . Many colleges plan to enforce a ban on radio broadcasting of football games next fall. The idea seems to be general that the aerial descriptions of the games cuts down attendance. Eastern colleges including Yale, Harvard, Army, Navy, Columbia and others, have already taken this action. . . . You're all wrong—most fat men were made fat because of their ability to handle a knife and fork in a business like manner.

Be frank with yourself. Are you too timid to take a safe, harmless conditioner that not only takes off surplus fat but is so helpful that it makes you feel years younger.

To reduce safely take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets. COZY CORNER

There's a little cozy corner
In this happy heart of mine,
Where I worshipped its adorer
With devotion most divine.

In those dear old days of childhood,
When our breasts were blithe and free
As the blue birds of the wild-wood,
Fairy-like you came to me.

Then I thought of you with wonder
As a spirit from the skies,
With your smiling lips asunder
And with love-light in your eyes.

Alchemy of adoration
Wrought a halo 'round your brow.
Dared I dream of such a station?
Oh, I know you better now.

Love is such a strange magician,
Dazzling eyes with rainbow dreams.
Life's a sober, stern physician,
Disenchanting, so it seems.

Love and Life in league united,
These have taught me what you are.
Though youth's blossoms may be blighted,
You're a fairer flower far.

Gone the gay and dancing fairy,
Gone the angel-girl of old.
Wonder traits of woman tarry,
Mine to have and mine to hold.

There's a cozy corner
In my happy heart today;
And to you, its dear adorer,
Truer tribute still, I pay.

All the eager, wild emotion
That bestirred me as a boy,
All my deeper man's devotion,
Both, I bring to you with joy.

Three-Cent Postage
Rate Puts Burden On
Mississippi Offices

The state of Mississippi, busy collecting new taxes to balance its budget finds itself in the unusual position of being forced to pay new federal taxes to balance the federal budget.

Moreover, the state tax commission, which administers the new state taxes will be the hardest hit by the increased U. S. levy.

Increase from two to three cents for first class mail will mean a 50 per cent jump in mailing costs for all state departments. Since each state agency and department has a specified appropriation, beyond which it cannot spend, it was indicated today that the only alternative will be to cut down the amount of mail.

The tax commission, which must keep in touch monthly with approximately 17,000 taxpayers, is hard hit by the new stamp rate. Plans already have been made to reduce the commissions postage bill and officials said today further cuts probably will be ordered to keep within the appropriation.

Automatic posting machines, approved by the postoffice department, has been installed in the tax commission office, through which an accurate check may be kept of mail sent out. It also will do away with any chance of "leaks" in the stamp supply.

RETAIL HARDWARE
DEALERS GATHER IN ANNUAL SESSION

Newspaper Advertising Is Urged as Part of Merchandising Plan—B. L. Knost And S. G. Thigpen Speakers.

A clean front, a modern merchandising plan and up to date newspaper advertising, were declared Monday's necessity for retail hardware merchants by George Thomas, sales specialist of St. Louis, in an address before the Mississippi Retail Hardware and Implement Association in annual convention at Gulfport, Monday.

Mr. Thomas was the first speaker before the 26th annual convention of hardware men which began a two-day session.

Knost and Thigpen on Program.

Other speakers on the program included W. H. Cinher of Lexington, Miss., president of the organization; B. L. Knost, Pass Christian, and W. L. Moody of Memphis.

L. M. Stratton of Memphis, and S. G. Thigpen of Picayune, Miss., former president of the hardware association, were on the program for addresses that night.

A feature of the convention during the forenoon was a wood chopping demonstration by Peter McLaren of Melbourne, Australia, who was introduced as the "champion wood chopper of the world."

Delegates to the convention were given a ride along the beach front in the afternoon.

C. H. Everett, of Jackson, G. A. Alexander of Gulfport and G. B. Ramsay of Starkville appeared on the program for addresses Tuesday.

Following Monday's session the plan of newspaper advertising as best for the acceleration of business was generally discussed and the consensus of opinion was that this form of publicity had no equal. The newspaper ad, it was pointed out, is the printed word; that the printed word survives all other form of advertising and carries conviction. Hence, the hardware dealers returned to their respective homes more convinced than ever that newspaper advertising was the medium to create trade and to stimulate it to appreciable proportion.

AN OUTRAGE

A DEQUATE compensation for the "big business" men of this country is appropriate during normal times but in these days of sharply reduced incomes, wide-spread unemployment and resultant need the payment of exorbitant salaries to executives is inexcusable.

Revelations of the Interstate Commerce Commission in regard to high salaries paid presidents, vice-presidents and board chairmen of a number of the Class 1 railroads will astound the people of this country.

The disclosure was made by Senator Couzens, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. The figures given were as of March of this year and show what munificent sums are being dispensed by the chief rail lines.

With these same railroads almost begging for financial assistance from the government through the federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation, it is an outrageous inconsistency for their executives to be drawing salaries many of which exceed the pay of the president of the United States.

The top check goes to the chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific, and it is $135,000 per year. The president of this system gets $90,000 while the president of the Baltimore and Ohio is on the payroll for $120,000.

Since 1929 there have been some reductions in salaries of railway executives but the average was only 10 per cent.

Even the railroads that have gone into receivership are guilty of overpaying their officers. The Seaboard Air Line Railroad Company is paying two receivers $45,000 per year each. The Wabash Railroad company is paying one receiver $45,000 and another $27,000.

The list of salaries paid officials of some of the larger lines is the most striking document which could possibly be compiled in this case. Here it is:

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad System, president $67,500. Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, the Hocking Valley Railroad Company and the Pierre Marquette Railroad Company—president, $90,000; senior vice president, $43,000.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul—president, $67,500.

Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, president, $67,500.

Great Northern, president, $60,000.

Illinois Central, president, $90,000.

Kansas City Southern, chairman of the board of directors, $45,000; president, $33,300.

Lehigh Valley, president, 72,000. Louisville & Nashville, president, $45,000.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas, chairman of the board and president, $65,000.

New York Central System, chairman of the executive committee $80,000.

Norfolk and Western, president, $45,000.

Southern Pacific, chairman of the board, $22,500; chairman of the executive board, $22,500; chairman of the executive committee, $135,000; vice chairman of the executive committee, $76,500; president, $90,000.

Texas and Pacific, president, $50,000.

Union Pacific, chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee, $36,000 each; vice chairman of the executive committee, $54,000; president, $90,000.

How can these railroads reconsider their top-heavy pay rolls with their loud and frequently voiced contentions that unfair competition is ruining the railways of the nation?

It may be bus and truck lines are operating under regulations unfavorable to the railroads. Instead of making a sincere effort to meet and conquer the up and coming competitors by improved services, the railroads have been taking off trains, laying off men, retrenching here, there and everywhere. But the fat pay for the officials still is overstuffed and presentation of this condition to the public will add to the general disgust at the maneuverings of capitalistic giants.

The bug under the railroad chip at last has been found.

Chaplin, Pickford
And Fairbanks Have
Most Taxable Goods

Three of Hollywood's most famous figures—Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, all of whom were pioneers in the film industry—are indicated as the screen colony's three wealthiest individuals in tax assessment rolls published recently.

Chaplin, who made his money by making funny antics performed with a cane, derby hat and a pair of baggy trousers, listed taxable stock and bonds at prices prevalent on March 1, of $7,687,570. Cash and solvent credits amounting to $295,000 also were listed by the film comedian.

Second to Chaplin on the tax rolls is Mary Pickford, with stocks worth $2,316,940, interests in foreign trusts amounting to $176,190 and real estate valued at $192,260.

Mary's husband, Douglas Fairbanks, ranks third with stock worth $1,384,690, interests in foreign trusts of $236,760, and real estate at $75,480, in addition to his home, listed at $70,170.

How much wealth Chaplin, Fairbanks and Miss Pickford have in non-taxable securities was a matter of conjecture.

Other facts revealed by the assessment rolls were:

Harold Lloyd carries most of his taxable wealth in real estate, his home being assessed at $190,480, its furniture at $40,750, and other property at $152,780. He has $174,450 invested in taxable stocks.

Constance Bennett, rated the highest paid film star, has but $200 taxable furniture in her Malibu beach home.

Greta Garbo's automobile is taxed only for $220.

John Barrymore's bird aviary has an assessed valuation of $500.

Gloria Swanson has a harp with a taxable value of $350.

"Winner Take All"
At A. & G. Theatre
Sunday and Monday

Cagney fans will go for this one in a big way as it shows their hero at his best. He is a tough mug in this, tougher than he has ever been. It is funny, in fact much funnier than most of the previous Cagney opuses and has less of the dramatic than the others.

Cagney portrays a prizefighter who is sent to Arizona to recover his health. There he meets Marion Nixon and falls in love.

Cast: James Cagney, Marion Nixon, Guy Kibbee, Clarence Muse, Allen Lane, John Roche, Ralf Harlowe, Alan Mowbray, Clarence Wilson, Charles Coleman, Esther Howard, Renee Whitney, Harvey Perry, Julian Rivero. Directed by Roy Del Ruth.

Huey Long Defines
Term "Drunk" For
August U. S. Senate

Washington, July 11.—Huey Long gave the senate some legal advice today on how to determine what constitutes intoxicating liquor. The Louisiana senator said he had made an investigation in connection with the senate's difficulty in determining what is intoxicating liquor and had settled the question when a human being is intoxicated.

He quoted from Mordecai's law lectures from the North Carolina law journal the following:

"Not drunk is he who from the floor can rise and drink once more."

"But drunk is he who prostrate lies and can not either drink or rise."

"Fill her up," said the absent-minded motorist to the waiter, as he parked himself in the restaurant with his sweetie.—Lamplighter.

BILIOUS

"I have used Black-Draught . . . and have not found anything that could take its place. I take Black-Draught for biliousness. When I get bilious, I have a nervous headache and a nervous, trembling feeling that unfits me for my work. After I take a few doses of Black-Draught, I get all right. When I begin to get bilious, I feel tired and run-down, and then the headache and trembling. But Black-Draught relieves all this."—A. O. Hendrix, Homerville, Ga.

COOKING CLASS

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

Hothouses and modern shipping have made tomatoes available the greater part of the year. Tomatoes are relished at any one of the three daily meals; a beverage for breakfast, a salad for lunch, and a soup or hors d'oeuvres. Their delicious flavor and cheerful color contribute much to our meals.

For breakfast, season the tomato juice with a little salt and pepper and a tablespoon of lemon juice. Serve with crushed ice.

Serve each person a half of a tomato ice cold. Season with salt and pepper. Some people prefer a little sugar. This is a delightful way to serve tomatoes at breakfast.

Luncheon Salad

Break lettuce apart and put the tender young leaves in a cloth on ice. Cut a solid tomato in quarters lengthwise. Chop 3-4 cup of celery and 2 hard boiled eggs. Place the lettuce in a large bowl. On top of this arrange the tomatoes and sprinkle with the chopped celery and egg. Serve with French dressing at once. Roquefort cheese dressing may be used.

At dinner, use a tomato hors d'oeuvre for the first course. Wedges of tomato after the seedy pulp has been removed. Marinate in French dressing and fill with a highly seasoned spread of ham paste.

Cut firm, ripe tomatoes in slices, spread with a mixture of mayonnaise and cream cheese. Sprinkle chopped

Broiled Tomatoes

Wash and cut tomatoes in halves crosswise without peeling them. Cut off thin slices from top and bottom. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in bread crumbs, then in beaten egg and in crumbs again. Place on slightly greased broiler and broil 10 minutes under flame.

Swiss Tomatoes

Select small, regular sized tomatoes; chill and peel them. Chop together enough boiled tongue and cheese to make 4 tablespoons each, one thin slice of onion, a spray of parsley and 2 pickles. Mix with mayonnaise. Fill the tomatoes and serve on lettuce.

Tomatoes and Cheese Browned

Wash tomatoes. Do not peel them. Cut in half-inch slices. Place in a shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt, paprika, flour and cheese. Add one slice of bacon to each tomato. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Baste with 3 tablespoons of butter.

Frozen Tomato Salad Dressing

Combine one cup tomato juice with a half pint of whipped cream. Add two pimento chopped fine. Freeze until set. Serve in head lettuce as you would Thousand Island dressing.

"Bill" Lizana Loses Finger as Result of Dog Bite at Point

W. J. "Bill" Lizana, well-known operator of the bathing beach at Henderson Point, was the victim of an unusual accident 7 o'clock Monday morning at his place of business at the Point when he sustained the loss of a finger, the index of the right hand. The loss of the finger extends to the first knuckle.

It appears a lady patron, was accompanied by two Scotch terrier dogs to the beach during the early morning hour of the day when Mr. Lizana's police dog became involved in a mix-up. Attempting to separate the dogs the smaller one in turn made the attack. Dr. H. S. Lewis attended Mr. Lizana who suffered considerably but is now better, Mr. Lizana coming to Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Lizana's Statement.
"I was awakened from my sleep by the excitement of battling dogs," said Mr. Lizana, "and rushed out from the room into the open where I found my police dog, Chief, weighing 108 pounds, stretch out on his fours with one of the terriers in his mouth and the other attacking him from the other end. The lady owning both dogs was standing straddle across Chief. I saw the situation at a glance. Here was the woman in a bathing suit, with her legs bare and standing over my dog. Had he let the terrier go that was held by the back of the neck by his teeth and attempted to turn on the terrier to the back of him, he would have bitten the woman. To save her I attempted to first take the attacking dogs away. Trying to get Chief by the neck and cautioning the woman to get away, the terrier turned on me and it was then I lost the forepart of my finger.

"At this juncture the dogs were released and the woman seeing what had happened fainted in the arms of her husband. He was powerless to do anything. I picked her up and carried her towards the house for attention. Later on entering her car to be driven back to her home at Pass Christian, occupying one of the Renaud cottages, she fainted again. My wife poured iodine over my finger and I hastened over to Bay St. Louis for medical attention where Dr. Lewis attended me, my brother, Ferdinand, having first dressed the wound before leaving home, and Dr. Lewis gave me the tetanus serum.

"I have been training and doctoring dogs for the last thirty years. I have been bitten possibly over a thousand times in different places but this experience of mine Monday, happening within the twinkling of an eye, so to speak, was the most unusual experienced imaginable."

The lady is from New York, spending the summer on the Pass beach. Her name could not be ascertained.

ROBERT SQUIRES L. & N. VETERAN WORKER PASSES ON

Well-Known Colored Resident Was With Company 35 Years—Freight Warehouse Man.

Robert Squires, native of Bay St. Louis, aged 63 years, and for thirty-five years actively connected with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad as local freight warehouseman, save for a period spent in Mobile in like capacity, died at his home in this city Wednesday morning, July 13, at 4:15 after a lingering illness of two years.

Squires was retired by the L. & N. company two years ago last month on a pension. He had worked a long time, enjoyed the confidence of his employers and when he became disabled was voted a monthly pension. He is survived by his wife, there being no children; and a number of sisters and other relatives.

Funeral took place Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the late residence, with interment at Cedar Rest cemetery.

Squires was a familiar figure around the L. & N. freight depot building in Bay St. Louis, where he spent most of his adult life, and Oliver Sylvester, freight agent, paid his services a tribute on the occasion of his passing away.

Mrs. Edw. C. Carrere, Waveland, president of the district, delivered an interesting address followed by a few remarks of local application. In compliment to Mrs. Carrere in addition to participating in the occasion, quite a number of ladies and gentlemen from Bay St. Louis and Waveland attended, and reported that the meeting was not only inspiring but of both educational and religious value.

Catholic pastors from Pascagoula, Biloxi and Gulfport were present in addition to a large delegation of the laity from these respective sections. Mrs. Corso presided over the general meeting.
